Pixley 2023 Water Run update –

Pixley will be able to get water back in the Friant Kern Canal this Saturday morning. Since we were not able to keep the system charged, it will be Sunday before everyone will get their water. The District will bring it in as fast as possible. We are still on a day to day basis with FKC capacity, and could lose the water some time Monday or Tuesday. We will not know until Sunday. We will be sending updates as information becomes available.

Also, through long-term agreements and because of the amount of water Districts have to run prior to November 1 when the Friant Kern Canal is going down, Pixley has secured enough water to run through October 31. Also, because of the amount of water that needs to be run, the District is opening the water back up for landowner recharge. These are the types of years for landowners to take advantage and build up their groundwater accounts.

As always, water deliveries for irrigation demand will have priority over deliveries for recharge. Please call the office to schedule your water.

Sincerely,

Eric Limas
General Manager
